

Formal Models of Domestic Politics, Second Edition: Errata

Scott Gehlbach

This version: December 14, 2024

Substantive

- (p. 223) The sentence beginning “From the perspective...” should read “random variable uniformly distributed on,” not “random variable with distribution.”
- (p. 49, Exercise 2.7) In part (f), strike out the phrase “with the linear model.” (Section 2.3 assumes a concave utility function, as in Exercise 2.7, but with a different functional form.)
- (p. 101, Exercise 4.2) Part (d) should read “...such that members of the opposition are no better off if they all vote against the alternative” rather than “such that members of the opposition are better off voting sincerely on the agenda setter’s proposal.”
- (p. 104, Exercise 4.6) Part (c) should read “ $x_2(B)$ and $x_2(C)$,” not “ $x_2(B)$ and $x_2(B)$.”
- (p. 215, Exercise 8.4) Part (c) should read “the action a_B ” rather than “the action a_G .”

Minor editorial

- (p. 46, Exercise 2.2) The first sentence should read “takes place,” not “takes places.”
- (p. 208) The sentence beginning “Holding ownership constant” should read “decreasing,” not “deceasing.”
- (p. 211) The sentence beginning “A key insight...” should read “the education,” not “the the education.”