2018 AAPOR Short Course: Multilevel Regression and Post-stratification. This course covered basic concepts and practical issues when implementing Multilevel Regression with Post-stratification (MRP). MRP is an alternative to traditional weighting and calibration methods when correcting survey data for non-response and selection bias.

2017 Fulbright Futures. This is a working group for faculty who teach a large percentage of freshman. The group focuses on improving student retention.

2015 Multi-Systems Integration Certificate. This certificate is offered by Georgetown University and focuses on improving outcomes for crossover youth by improving multi-system integration and collaboration. Although this program is focused on crossover youth, the skills and knowledge gained can be used for multi-system integration and collaboration across multiple systems.

2015 Propensity Score Analysis Seminar. This training focused on the use of propensity score analysis for evaluating the effects of treatments or interventions when using non-experimental data.
